DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 3/3/04 and 3/8/04 have been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-3, 11-19 and 22-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Caviness et al (6036545).

Caviness (Figures 1-8) shows a radio frequency connector having a body 18 with a cylindrical inner portion and cylindrical outer portion, a flange 12 attached to the body and having a central cavity configured to receive a chip carrier with a semiconductor device 68 and a plurality of coplanar RF signal and ground pins 54 extending from the cavity wherein the signal pin is connected to the device in the chip carrier and the cavity receives a substantial portion of the chip carrier which is substantially flush with a surface of the flange. There are two ground pins, one 54 and the other one 84. The connector has a threaded means adjacent a second end of the body to join to a mating connector.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 4-10 and 20-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Caviness et al. (6036545).

Caviness shows all the features of these claims as described in Paragraph 7 above except the signal path between the signal pin and the device to be 40, 75, 100, 200, 300, 400 or 500 mils and conductive line to be 50 or 100 mils. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the instant invention to arrange the device to a desired distance from the pins to obtain a desired signal path and to make the conductive lines 50 or 100 mils long because this would require a mere arrangement or change in size which involve only routine skill in the art.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-33 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Ferguson et al. (6326862), Gokcebay et al. (6000609), Yu et al. (50570410 and Brooks et al. (20020042231).
